

Criticizes Choice Of Rehnquist To Court

Campaigning Here

E. J. "Lucky" Cantrell, right, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, came to Sedalia Tuesday to campaign and to meet with community leaders. Talking to Cantrell are, from left to right, Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney Adam Fischer and Frank E. Meyer, circuit judge. Cantrell, who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said that he is advocating the investment of state money in Missouri banks to replace the present practice of depositing it with the U.S. Treasurer.

Cantrell Visits In Sedalia Area

"Keep Missouri's money working for Missourians."

This is the campaign slogan of State Rep. E. J. "Lucky" Cantrell, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, who brought his campaign to Sedalia Tuesday. He held a press conference at Holiday Inn and discussed his goals with local government officials and businessmen at a luncheon.

Explaining his slogan, Cantrell said that the current "short-sighted" policy of investing the bulk of Missouri funds with the U.S. treasurer must be abandoned. In its place he suggested a policy "that will insure the strong investments of state funds at the lawful rates of interest in Missouri banks."

This idea of letting Missouri money circulate within the state, instead of letting it be deposited with the U.S. Treasury Department, will "stimulate Missouri's economy," and "enable small businessmen and others to obtain loans."

Cantrell pointed out that the selection of banks where the state money will be deposited will depend on several conditions. First, the banks "will have to qualify under all conditions of the law," he said. Secondly, the banks "should show a strong co-operative attitude" by their participation in loan financing, "recognized community sponsored projects," and "meaningful lending policies designed to assist members of the business community."

He added that the eligible banks should also recognize "the need for meaningful student loan programs."

Explaining the need for a more substantial student loan program, Cantrell said, "There are many young guys who are working their way through school. They're sincere in getting an education. The banks should help them with loans."

Cantrell, 42, once a janitor in the Ford plant in St. Louis, is now chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, an office he has held for five years. He has been a member of that committee for 12 of the 14 years he has served as a Missouri legislator.

As chairman of the committee, he has made recommendations on state spending and has conducted inspections of state institutions. One of them is the State Training School for Boys in Boonville, which he described as a "warehouse complex."

Cantrell said that he is "very optimistic that the state is going to find a use" for

WASHINGTON (AP) — Black leader Clarence Mitchell said today the nomination of Asst. Atty. Gen. William H. Rehnquist for the Supreme Court is "an insult to Americans who support civil rights."

"Through that nomination the foot of racism is placed in the door of the temple of justice," Mitchell told the Senate Judiciary Committee as the panel began taking testimony for and against President Nixon's nominees to fill two Supreme Court vacancies.

Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he was speaking for it and also for the Leadership Conference of Civil Rights.

He was accompanied by Joseph L. Raugh Jr., counsel for the leadership conference, and also appearing as a witness for Americans for Democratic Action in opposition to Rehnquist's nomination.

Mitchell said they were not taking any position on Lewis F. Powell Jr., a Richmond, Va., attorney who has been nominated for the second vacancy on the court.

With respect to Rehnquist, Mitchell said, "there is a consistent pattern of opposition to the rights of black Americans in areas of public accommodations, freedom of expression, education and voting."

"These, taken singly or together," he said, "raise grave doubts about whether he could mete out to the black citizens of American equal justice under law."

Barring disclosure of new information, Powell and Rehnquist appear headed for confirmation.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said he didn't know how much of a fight would be made against them, but he told newsmen: "I think the Senate will speedily confirm both of them."

He said he plans to call a committee meeting later this week to act on the nominations, but noted that under its rules any member could delay a vote for seven days.

Twenty-nine witnesses who have requested an opportunity to testify were notified to be on hand for today's session.

Powell was questioned by the committee for about 4½ hours Monday, less than half the time devoted to Rehnquist last week.

Neither is expected to be recalled, but Eastland said he didn't know what charges outside witnesses might level against them.

Liberals and conservatives on the committee joined in plaudits for Powell, whose nomination to succeed the late Hugo L. Black marked Nixon's third attempt to place a Southern conservative on the court.

The Senate rejected the nominations of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. of Greenville, S.C., and Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida for a previous vacancy on the court.

As Powell finished his testimony, Eastland told him he had made "a very fine witness." And Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said Powell had shown himself to be a man of "brilliance, compassion and integrity."

But some of the committee's liberals, as in the case of Rehnquist's nomination, found themselves in what Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., called a sort of dilemma.

Hart said he believes the court under former Chief Justice Earl Warren "was good medicine for the country." While Powell had "all the marks of excellence," Hart added, Nixon had indicated he was selecting nominees who share his belief that the Warren court had moved in directions he would like to see reversed.

Under these circumstances, Hart asked Powell, "should I vote against you?"

Without answering directly, Powell said some decisions of the Warren court disturbed him, but he testified there were "many others that I thought were long overdue."

Hart asked him if he would agree that "many decisions of the Warren court were a constitutionally sound effort to remove some of the disabilities that attach to an American simply because he is poor or unpopular."

"I would agree with that," replied Powell.

Little High Level Worry Over Pay Board Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House showed little concern today over organized labor's angry protests at the decision of President Nixon's Pay Board to impose on U.S. workers a 5.5-per-cent-a-year general ceiling on yearly wage increases.

"Organized labor is a part of this process and we think they will remain a part of this process," said White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

He spoke as a major AFL-CIO union, the 500,000-member Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union meeting in Miami Beach, urged a general strike if necessary to modify the Pay Board's regulations.

The Pay Board rejected by a 10-5 vote Monday labor's demand for retroactive payment of negotiated pay boosts which were caught in the wage-price freeze, except in a handful of cases.

"They have abrogated our contracts," said President George Meany of the AFL-CIO. However, a federation spokesman said the AFL-CIO convention, starting in Miami Nov. 18, will decide whether the federation will cooperate.

The board in fact bowed to labor's other key demand, approval in full of deferred pay increases scheduled under union contracts already in effect. But it ruled that these raises are subject to challenge and possible rollback if found to be "unreasonably inconsistent" with the 5.5-per-cent general standard.

Asked whether the five labor members of the 15-man, labor-industry-public board would quit, Chairman George Boldt replied promptly: "I am confident they will not." He got that impression, he added, from conversations with the labor members.

But an aggrieved union could take the Pay Board into court, and it seemed equally probable that the AFL-CIO leaders would ask Congress for relief. They already have a toehold at the Capitol; the House Banking Committee last week approved Phase 2 guidelines which, among other concessions, would grant labor its demand for retroactivity.

President Paul Jennings of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers said he would formally recommend to the AFL-CIO convention that the federation and its unions "use every resource at their command to undo the injustice that has been perpetrated by the Pay Board majority at the clear instigation of the Nixon administration."

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, said the guideline "makes a lot of sense ... It is about the best we could have hoped for." He added:

"It does provide a basis for achieving President Nixon's objectives of getting down to about 3 per cent inflation by the end of next year."

The Pay Board's guideline policy was drafted by the five public members headed by Boldt. It was supported by the five industry members. At the decisive, late-afternoon meeting of the Pay Board, the industry five had offered a proposed guideline that was similar to the public members' in many respects; it was rejected.

Then the public members offered their version. Business supported it, and labor voted no. The five industry members later issued a statement endorsing the standard and asking "the voluntary cooperation of all Americans" in its support.

"It is equitable and fair to all, requiring almost every American to make some sacrifice, as any control program must do," the statement said.

Nixon's other major Phase 2 panel, the Price Commission, is expected to issue price-increase guidelines within the next several days.

The Pay Board faces more hard work; it must draft regulations to implement the new rules in time for their promulgation before the President's 90-day wage-price freeze ends on Saturday at midnight.

This requires publication in the Federal Register, the official journal of the government. If the deadline is missed, the existing freeze rules will remain in force until the regulations take effect.

The guidelines leave the door ajar for settlements above the 5.5-per-cent standard. In reviewing new contracts, the board said, it will consider "ongoing collective bargaining and pay practices and the equitable position of the employees involved."

For Cablevision

Lower Assessment Rate

James Buckley, attorney for Cablevision Inc., 600 South Osage, revealed Tuesday he had been informed by the Missouri State Tax Commission in Jefferson City that the personal property tax assessment for Cablevision would be reduced from $102,000 to $70,000.

Buckley added the action of the tax commission, which had considered an appeal by the local firm Oct. 27, would be final. He said no reasons for the reduction accompanied the written announcement he received from the tax commission Tuesday.

Cablevision filed the appeal after the Board of Equalization raised and rearranged the total city and county valuation for the business to $102,000 from $39,600 for the previous year.

Under a clarification issued earlier by the tax commission, real and personal property inside the city limits would be assessed by both the city and county, adding that the ratio on the assessment within the city limits would be divided so the county would get 65 per cent of the tax monies, with the city getting the remaining 35 per cent.

Buckley earlier contended that the firm's tax assessment should be $50,000, rather than the $102,000 figure, noting that assessments for cable television firms in Jefferson City and Marshall were considerably lower.

In explaining his reasoning for opposing the higher assessment, Buckley said that many operations at the company were dependent on materials that depreciate quickly, adding that more than 100 miles of cable have to be maintained and repaired continually.

The city's share under the $102,000 figure would have been nearly $13,000. That figure should reduce to about $7,500 under the new assessment, leaving the county approximately $62,500, rather than about $89,000 under the larger assessment set by the Board of Equalization.

The Missouri State Tax Commission is chaired by Jim Riney, with Don Williams and Carl Davis as members.

Lawyer of Henderson Is Arguing Along Emotional, Patriotic Line

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Oran K. Henderson's lawyer described him in opening defense arguments today as a soldier who believed his troops at My Lai "were honest, decent American boys—not murderers, killers and liars."

Henry B. Rothblatt, his voice alternating between a low whisper and shouts, said the issue in Henderson's trial is not whether the combat commander erred in judgment in his investigation of the killing of civilians.

"The issue is, are you satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt, to a point of moral certainty, that on 18 March 1968 Col. Henderson knew of 100-150 civilian casualties and didn't give a damn because he was so corrupt?"

Addressing the seven officers who have the power to sentence Henderson to more than three years in prison, Rothblatt asked: "Is he the corrupt, evil criminal bent on conspiracy to cover up or the highly respected, courageous, sincere career soldier that nine general officers will certify as a man of sterling character and integrity?"

Rothblatt ended his address to the jury by saying that there could be only one possible verdict—"not guilty on all counts."

The most damaging of four charges that the government placed against Henderson was dropped Monday by the military judge, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski.

Henderson still faces charges that he conducted an improper investigation of the My Lai incident, failed to pass the word to superiors, and lied in one instance to high-level investigators.

The first of 40 defense witnesses was to take the stand in the afternoon session.

The defense task was lightened by dismissal of the one charge.

"This was the heart of the prosecution's case, from here on it's easy sailing," said Rothblatt after the judge ruled Monday that the government failed to prove Henderson lied under oath to a Pentagon panel investigating the slaughter of Vietnamese civilians by U.S. soldiers at My Lai on March 16, 1968.

"This was their main contention, branding him a liar and perjurer," Rothblatt said. "This is really where they attempted to prove their case. Now we don't have to concern ourselves with that problem anymore."

The dismissed charge carried a maximum penalty of three years in prison.

The judge, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, denied motions for dismissal of the other charges which carry a combined penalty of three years and three months in prison as well as forfeiture of pay and dismissal from the service.

Remaining to be tried are charges that Henderson was derelict in his duty by failing to investigate "reports of excessive killing of noncombatants," at My Lai and relaying the allegations to higher command; and one additional count of making a false official statement to Pentagon investigators.

Mansfield To Fight Stop-Gap Financing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today he will oppose stop-gap financing of foreign aid until Congress has completed action on a bill to authorize a renewed assistance program.

He said it is unlikely that action could be finished before current aid spending authority runs out next Monday.

The House put off until Wednesday or Thursday a vote on a resolution to continue aid spending powers at a rate equal to about $2.6 billion a year.

That is what the administration wants, but key Senate Democrats have made clear they will block the measure.

House Republican leaders asked for the delay in action on the resolution that includes the aid provisions so their members could scatter later in the day to a network of 20 GOP fund-raising dinners around the country. The Senate also agreed to a slowdown on its calendar to let the Republicans raise money.

Two foreign aid bills, totaling $2.3

billion, await action in the Senate beginning Wednesday. The House already has passed a $3.4-billion aid authorization.

The Senate begins debate Wednesday on its own sharply reduced foreign assistance program, more than $1 billion below the level the administration had set as an acceptable minimum.

It would, in the administration view, be better than nothing. And nothing is what the aid program will get until Congress settles on legislation to supplant the $2.9-billion aid bill the Senate rejected 10 days ago.

The State Department continued to urge upon Congress a continuing resolution to authorize aid spending at or near current levels after Nov. 15, when present funds expire.

But Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said there was no chance for winning congressional approval of a continuing resolution. He said he assumes the White House is aware of that situation.

Chinese Delegation Traveling to U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Red China's official delegation to the United Nations left Peking for New York today to the cheers and chants of thousands.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported from the Chinese capital that several thousand persons shouted slogans, sang and danced as Chiao Kuan-hua and his staff of about 50 boarded a Chinese airliner for Shanghai where they will pick up a foreign commercial plane for the trip to the United States. They are due here Wednesday. An advance group arrived on Monday.

The U.N. envoys were personally seen off by Premier Chou En-lai and other members of the Politburo of the Chinese Communist party, Tanjug reported.

Chou was reported by a newspaper in Hong Kong to have gained new power in the Peking leadership.

When the Chinese U.N. envoys finally settle in a U.N. headquarters it is likely they will be under the same travel restrictions that the Russians are but they will be better off than the Cubans, a U.S. source said.

The source said he anticipates that the Chinese will be allowed to move freely within 25 miles of Columbus Circle, roughly the midpoint of Manhattan. Except for specific areas that are off limits, however, they could travel anywhere outside that radius by giving 48 hours' notice.

Up to now, such regulations have been applied to diplomats of the Soviet Union and its Byelorussian and Ukrainian republics because U.S. diplomats in the Soviet Union are similarly restricted in their movements.

Stricter regulations apply to the U.N. delegations from Albania, Cuba and Mongolia because the United States has no diplomatic relations with their governments. Diplomats from those countries must ask permission to travel beyond the 25-mile limit, and it is seldom granted.

Even though the United States and Peking do not have diplomatic relations, the source said there is no thought of applying such regulations to the Red Chinese

Custodian Remaining In Custody

GROVE, Okla. (AP) — A 63-year-old custodian remained in custody without charge today as Delaware County authorities continued their investigation into Monday's shooting death of Grove Elementary School Principal T.J. Melton.

Dist. Atty. Frank Grayson said "a motive for the shooting has been established."

Melton was shot three times in the head and chest in a janitor's supply room only minutes after classes began. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Custodian Jim Underwood was taken into custody in connection with the killing. He had summoned an ambulance for Melton and had asked teachers to move their pupils from nearby rooms, telling them there was "boiler trouble."

Grayson declined to give details of the shooting after he began his investigation.

Elementary school students were not told of the incident until the end of classes Monday. Students in the junior and senior high schools nearby were notified just before they were released at noon.

Melton, 49, was a native of the Grove area and had taught three years at Anderson, Mo., before coming to Grove in 1967.

He obtained his bachelor's degree from Kansas State College in Pittsburg, Kan., and his master's degree from Colorado State College. He was married and had one son, Jeff, a student at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M in Miami.

Crushed By Auto When Jack Fails

BROOKFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Police said Keith Hungate, 23, of Marceline, was crushed to death by his auto when a hydraulic jack failed early today.

The accident occurred at a truck stop garage in Brookfield while Hungate was working on his own car.

Officers said the safety locks on the jack apparently were left open and the car fell on Hungate when the pressure leaked out.

Protests Continue

Antiwar demonstrators from Philadelphia play dead on the sidewalk in front of the White House Monday to dramatize how many people die every day in the Vietnam

War. The action began what the demonstrators call the daily death toll. Each weekday a different area of the country will send a delegation to the White House. (UPI)

Student Is Found Guilty of Sabotage

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A former Washington University student was found guilty of sabotage by a federal court jury Monday in connection with the burning of a Reserve Officer Training Corps Building at the university in May 1970.

Joseph W. Eisenberg, 22, of Olivette, Mo., will be sentenced Nov. 26. The maximum penalty for the offense charged is 30 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The building was burned following a rally in protest of the movement of American troops into Cambodia and the shooting of four Kent State University

Sentence Brothers To Term in Prison

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — Gary V. Johnson, 25, and his brother, Jack Johnson, 21, have been sentenced to one year in jail on an affray charge. The brothers pleaded guilty

Monday in Jasper County Magistrate Court to the charge which arose from a disturbance during a preliminary hearing last week. The Johnsons were handcuffed and bound together by a waist chain Monday.

Both face a charge of felonious assault with intent to kill as a result of shots fired at two officers in Joplin Oct. 12.

One brother is in danger of losing his health care protection; the other brother is not. Do you know why?

The brother on the left turned nineteen this year. The other brother is sixteen. The sixteen-year-old is still covered by his family's Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection, but the nineteen-year-old is in danger of losing it.

Why? Because in most cases, Family Blue Cross and Blue Shield membership includes unmarried children only through the calendar year in which they reach nineteen. (This age limit sometimes varies.

This age limit sometimes varies according to the terms of the specific group agreement. If there's a nineteen-year-old in your family, better check your Membership Agreement or contact your Group Leader or call us at Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

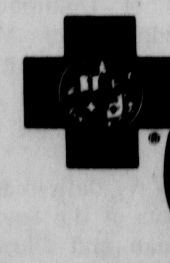

To remain eligible for Blue Cross and Blue Shield benefits, the older brother now needs his own membership. We call it a Sponsored Membership. It enables him to continue Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage with no lapse in protection. This Sponsored Membership is easy for you to arrange. Follow these three simple steps:

1. Get a Sponsored Member Application Form. To do this, complete and mail the coupon or see your Blue Cross and Blue Shield Group Leader where you work, or contact Blue Cross and Blue Shield; 1-8700, Box 169, Kansas City, Missouri 64141.

2. Fill it out.
3. Return it by December 1, 1971.

Do it now. If your application is received by December 1, you can be sure your child will still have Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage after this year and with no lapse in protection.

Some colleges and universities offer a special health benefits program for their students. If your son or daughter is attending college, you might want to check with the school on the availability of this student coverage. If you would like to compare the student program with that available through Blue Cross and Blue Shield Sponsored Membership, please contact us; one of our counselors will be happy to help you.

COME SEE A NEW INVENTION. We call it a stove.

The Corning Counterange® electric range is fantastic to look at but so practical to use. There isn't a burner in sight. You cook on a beautifully smooth surface with the heating units hidden underneath. And yet this revolutionary range is so efficient it even helps you cook better than ever before.

What's the surface made of?
Strong durable Pyroceram®
Brand glass-ceramic.

How does it cook so precisely?

All four heating areas are thermostatically controlled, just like your oven. That means you can set the dial and know that you'll never go above the desired heat setting. A simmer stays at a simmer. There are no hot spots, no uneven heat.

Is it easy to clean?

When this cooking surface gets dirty you can see it... and restore it to its original beauty every time. All it takes is a damp paper towel, Corning's Cleaner, Conditioner and a bit of rubbing. Imagine, no more scrubbing messy coils and burners ever again!

Is the oven self-cleaning?

Completely. Just set two knobs and the pyrolytic (high-heat) self-cleaning cycle starts. It's completely safe, too, because of a fool-proof double-locking system.

What about pots and pans?

To help take the guesswork out of cooking, a starter set of Cookmates® freeze-cook-and-serve ware comes with the range. Their smooth, flat bottoms match the cooktop. You can use your own pots and pans provided they're flat-bottomed and stay flat when heated.

The Counterange slip-in model is also available. It gives your kitchen that distinctive built-in look. Come in and see the Corning range for yourself. It's bound to be love at first sight.

Privilege Act Rolling Again

By ROBERT ESTES
Fort Scott Tribune
For The Associated Press

FORT SCOTT, Kan. (AP) — In 1929 a Topeka reporter was fined $25 for refusing to tell the police his sources for a story on vice in the capital.

Shortly after the incident the late Sen. Arthur Capper, the publisher of various Kansas publications and owner of two radio stations, introduced the Newsman's Privilege Act, and reintroduced it every year he remained in Congress.

Sen. James B. Pearson has now taken up Capper's act and reintroduced it to Congress. The Pearson proposal is described as a clarification of the Bill of Rights statement, "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom... of the press." Recent court actions in which the rights statement has been called unclear prompted Pearson to resubmit the bill, the senator said.

Pearson said he has introduced the Newsman's Privilege Act so that if the Supreme Court does not hand down a complete decision in the case of Caldwell vs. United States, the Congress can interpret the constitutional guarantee of a free press. Earl Caldwell, a New York Times reporter, refused to testify about the Black Panthers before a closed door session of the grand jury. He said the suspicion he might disclose information such as that gathered on the Panthers would interfere with his ability as a newsmen.

Pearson traced the historical roots of a free press in the republic, citing the case of John Peter Zenger in the American colonies who refused to give the origin of news stories critical of the province governor of New York in 1733.

Pearson reminded congressmen that James Madison wrote, "popular government without popular information or the means of acquiring it is but a prologue to a farce of tragedy or perhaps both."

The Kansas senator brought the question up to date with reference to campus unrest. "Because the lines of communication between dissident elements of society must be kept open to preserve domestic tranquility, the Congress and the courts must be vigilant to insure that vestiges of governmental action which have a 'chilling effect' on freedom of the press are eradicated," Pearson said.

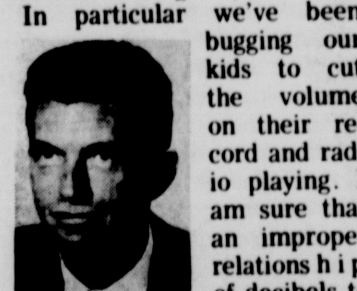

He said newsmen cannot meet the obligation to spread the news "without full opportunity to gather newsworthy information from confidential sources."

Extreme Noises Create Possible Hearing Loss

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would appreciate advice and counsel on the subject of hi-fi effects on hearing.

In particular we've been bugging our kids to cut the volume on their record and radio playing. I am sure that an improper relations hip of decibels to volume can be most harmful to the human ear. Now, our boy wants to buy a pair of the muff-type earphones for his personal listening. Is there no harm, or less harm, in using earphones instead of loud-speakers?

Dear Reader — Earphones would certainly cause less harm to everyone else except the person using them. You are absolutely right about possible harm from loud music. Noise deafness is common to people who must work around loud noises, such as around aircraft. Most places where this is an occupational hazard have the level of noise checked to be certain it is within the range of safety for hearing. In addition, people working in such environments often wear ear muffs or "ear defenders."

People who have been exposed to too much noise will show loss of hearing when tested with an audiogram. Interestingly enough, the noise deafness makes it impossible for a person to hear the finer aspects of music such as the high frequency tones. I have always been amused with the hi-fi bug who spends large sums of money for hi-fi equipment and has enough ear damage not to be able to hear any more tones than are normally transmitted by relatively cheap equipment. Anyone planning to spend a lot of money for hi-fi will be well to have a hearing test first to see if they can even hear the highly touted additional sounds.

There is evidence that a number of people listening to loud music, usually rock 'n' roll, have developed noise deafness. The damage is irreversible. It is no different than damage from loud noises like that produced by gunfire.

The factor that determines whether the hearing will be damaged or not is the level of intensity of the noise — loudness — received at the ear, regardless of whether it arrives through air in an open room or through an earphone.

Many people interested in environment regard noise as "noise pollution." The big cities are full of noise pollution and it is thought by many to have a bad influence on the psychic and emotional health. It appears to be one factor in fatigue and irritability. It is just as important a problem in pollution as the more commonly discussed problems of auto exhaust. Most of nature's creatures flee from locations of excess noise. Man alone seems to be trapped within his own noise sphere.

To tell if the level of noise your son is producing is sufficient to damage his hearing would require testing of the output of noise from his set. If it is quite loud, it is a good bet that it could indeed cause some loss of hearing, particularly if used for a long time. In any case, excessively loud noise is noise pollution and not conducive to good mental health.

Vote On Fate Of Schools

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — With Independence schools closed for lack of money, residents were voting today on a proposed 95-cent increase in the school tax levy following a heated campaign.

Paper ballots were being used. Voting hours were from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. at 12 schools.

Six times previously the 95-cent proposal was defeated with favorable votes of 52 to 63.5 per cent. A two-thirds majority is needed.

The question heated up considerably after the school board ordered the 25 schools closed Oct. 25 for lack of money to pay teachers.

Opponents of the tax hike charged the board was threatening the public by using the 16,633 school children as pawns and ignoring alternatives for keeping the schools open.

The board replied the closing was necessary because the children would suffer more if education were cut back to keep the schools running.

The present tax is $4.70 per $100 assessed valuation. The 95-cent increase would mean a tax rise for the average homeowner of $61.75 a year and a total school tax of $367.25 a year (based on a $6,500 valuation).

The increase would add about $900,000 to the 1971-72 school budget.

Sees Ocean Death

Ocean explorer Thor Heyerdahl reported in tones of despair Monday that he sailed through floating globs of oil throughout most of his recent trip across the Atlantic in his papyrus boat Ra II. He said similar pollution was not noted on the same route in 1946. (UPI)

People in the News

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower has been released from the Brooke Army Medical Center and described by doctors as in good general condition.

The widow of President Dwight D. Eisenhower has been in the medical center at Ft. Sam Houston since Oct. 25, reportedly for a checkup.

A hospital spokesman said last Friday she had developed a mild bronchial inflammation, but she was released Monday night.

NEW YORK (AP) — Fashion designer Yves St. Laurent has posed nude for an advertisement for his new men's cologne, but Americans aren't likely to see the ad.

The ad shows a heavily shadowed photograph of the designer seated with a halo of light behind his head. Below the photo is a caption and a picture of the cologne.

The ad is appearing in the current issue of French Vogue and will run this week in other French publications. A spokesman for the firm that licenses St. Laurent products in the United States said he doubted the ad would appear here.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower has given a group of blind children a special guided tour of the White House's Lincoln Room and provided a presidential ghost story.

Julie allowed the 28 children, aged 8 to 12, to touch many of the items in the newly refurbished Red Room and encouraged a group testing of the large Lincoln bed during Monday's tour.

Grange Pleased By Sale

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The National Grange, meeting here for its 105th annual convention, has sent a message to President Nixon commending him for completing negotiations on the sale of 2.9 million tons of mixed grains to the Soviet Union.

"This major breakthrough in establishing agricultural trade with Russia, and possibly later Red China, will be of benefit to not only the U.S. farm interests and the U.S. balance of payments, but also to the long-range interest of American shipping," Grangers said in a telegram to Nixon Monday.

Approximately 7,000 delegates attended the opening of the 10-day convention here Monday and began working on some of the 600 resolutions to be considered during the meetings.

One resolution passed Monday urged Nixon to appoint a qualified agriculturist to the Price Commission. The resolution noted that "the economic strength of agriculture is such that an adversely affected agriculture would greatly impair the entire economy."

The Grange contends that while agricultural raw materials should properly be omitted from arbitrary price freezes, this leaves no assurance agricultural prices will receive equal consideration when processed commodities are fairly priced.

Another resolution passed Monday urged the Department of Agriculture to request funds and Congress to appropriate funds for soil conservation and water quality programs.

The resolution also asked the President to see that the Office of Management and Budget stop "superimposing its judgment on that of the Congress and knowledgeable environmentalists and promptly release" funds already appropriated for soil conservation and water quality.

"The Office of Management and Budget has consistently inconvenienced farmers by being slow in releasing appropriated funds for this program—even after the program's redirection—and has in fact severely reduced the size of the program," the resolution said.

L. Don Feedback

Feedback New Trustee For Hospital Group

L. Don Feedback, 2500 South Quincy, administrator of Bothwell Memorial Hospital, was named trustee of the Missouri Hospital Association at its meeting this week at Tan-Tar-A resort, Osage Beach.

Sister Estelle Marie Vosen, SSM, executive director of St. Mary's Health Center, St. Louis, is the new association president, succeeding Carl A. Virgion, administrator of Springfield Baptist Hospital, Springfield.

About 500 representatives of Missouri hospitals are taking part in the 49th annual convention. Programs focus on national legislation affecting hospitals, on improving community emergency health services, and on holding down health care costs.

Prayer Vote As Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Defeat of a proposed constitutional amendment that would have permitted the use of a nondenominational prayer in public school was hailed by an official of Americans United Monday night as a victory for the American system.

Franklin Salisbury, general counsel for the organization that is dedicated to opposing public aid to parochial schools, said it was impossible to compose a nondenominational prayer that would be acceptable to members of every religious faith.

"I am very pleased that Congress rejected this attempt to tamper with the First Amendment and turned back this threat to the separation of church and state," Salisbury told an audience at Tower Grove Baptist Church.

In any event, Salisbury said, it would be impossible to permit prayer in school without amending the Constitution.

"We don't oppose voluntary prayer. We just don't feel that a child should be required to pray in school."

"The school boards are the last people that should be allowed to determine what prayers should be used," Salisbury said.

Americans United formerly was known as Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

Prayer Fight Lost For Present Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional fight for specific constitutional approval of prayer in public schools has been lost for this year but may become an issue in the 1972 elections.

The battle to offset a 1962 Supreme Court decision that the 1st Amendment bars states from composing prayers for use in schools was lost in the House Monday.

It got a majority, 240 to 162, of the total votes cast but needed two-thirds for approval. Had it won in the House in its initial test in that body, it would have needed a two-thirds clearance by the Senate and ratification by 38 states before becoming a part of the Constitution.

Supporters of the amendment were unhappy but not surprised by the result. They blamed their defeat on absenteeism—29 members didn't vote—and on organized opposition from religious and legal groups.

Rep. John Buchanan, R-Ala., a clergyman, said he hopes the Supreme Court, with its complexion changed since 1962, will take another look and "restore the free exercise of religious freedom."

Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Ohio, who led the fight for a House showdown after the Judiciary Committee bottled up the resolution, said absenteeism hurt his cause.

But he predicted that public demand would revive the amendment and the result would be different the next time.

A national organization called Citizens for Public Prayer predicted the prayer issue would be raised "repeatedly and insistently" in the 1972 elections.

The resolution fell 28 votes short of the two-thirds needed. Supporting it were 102 Democrats and 138 Republicans. Against it were 136 Democrats and 26 Republicans.

A last-minute shift in strategy may have cost the resolution some support. It originally would have allowed "nondenominational" prayers in schools but was amended to clear the way for "voluntary prayer and meditation."

Both versions were assailed as vague by the resolution's opponents, who said the change indicated that sponsors were not sure of the effect of what they proposed.

Some opponents argued that the House should not try to change in one afternoon the language it took several weeks for writers of the Constitution to frame.

Supporters cited public-opinion polls to back their claim that most people want nondenominational prayers in school despite objections of religious leaders. They said many pupils believe prayer is wrong because of the court ruling.

Torrential Rains Slow Supply Push

SAIGON (AP) — Torrential rains, by some accounts the heaviest in 100 years, appear to have delayed North Vietnam's annual dry season push of war materials southward.

Informed sources said today that the main supply network, the Ho Chi Minh trail running through eastern Laos, is now beginning to dry up and truck traffic has increased slightly.

"But there is no big push yet," said one source. "Typhoon Hester seems to have delayed any significant enemy activity. It was anticipated the push would begin the last half of October and things would be well under way by now."

Typhoon Hester caused catastrophic damage in the northern quarter of South Vietnam two weeks ago and dissipated over eastern Laos. Rains spawned by the storm caused landslides and interrupted road construction along the 300-mile trail network.

B52 heavy bombers and smaller tactical fighter-bombers kept up attacks along the supply route in efforts to further stall construction and knock out what little truck traffic there is.

The B52s also launched strikes in the northern quarter of South Vietnam, hitting North Vietnamese storage areas and bunker complexes seven miles south of the northernmost provincial capital of Quang Tri.

The U.S. Command disclosed the loss of two helicopters in South Vietnam to enemy ground fire. An AH1 Cobra gunship was shot down Monday north of the A Shau valley, a transshipment point off the Ho Chi Minh trail. There were no casualties reported. A delayed report said another Cobra was shot down last Saturday deep in the Mekong Delta, killing one crewman and wounding another.

The losses raised to 8,012 the number of U.S. aircraft reported lost in the Indochina war since Jan. 1, 1961.

Meanwhile, Hanoi charged that U.S. air strikes inside North Vietnam Sunday and Monday hit a number of populated areas causing civilian casualties and property damage. The Hanoi broadcast also claimed that two U.S. fighter-bombers were shot down.

The U.S. Command's communique in Saigon reported three separate incidents in which a total of 12 fighter-bombers attacked antiaircraft batteries defending three airfields inside North Vietnam after the guns fired on American reconnaissance planes. The communique said the results of the strikes were not known and there was no damage to U.S. aircraft.

Asked about the charge that the air strikes caused civilian casualties, a spokesman for the command, Maj. Robert O'Brien, said, "We don't address ourselves to Radio Hanoi broadcasts."

Asked if he had any report on civilian casualties, he replied: "Not to my knowledge."

Sales Tax Income May Fall Short

Revenue from the city sales tax is expected to exceed $540,000 when the city receives its check from the Missouri Department of Revenue Dec. 9.

City Clerk Ralph Dedrick said that a check received Tuesday, in the amount of $54,056.17, brought the city's sales tax receipts to $481,544.42.

Based on past experience, Dedrick said the check to be received in December could be the biggest one received all year. Tuesday's payment to the city represents the sales tax collection period of Sept. 25 to Oct. 27.

City officials had expected revenues in the neighborhood of $700,000 a year when the one per cent sales tax was approved by voters last year. It now appears possible that this total may not be realized.

Dennis Ray Todd, 17, 1100 South Osage, charged with tampering with a motor vehicle, had his case continued to Nov. 22 in Pettis County Circuit Court Tuesday because the deposition of a witness had not been filed.

Todd was arrested with David Ladd Booe, 17, of Fairbury, Neb., in late July after allegedly tampering with a 1964 Ford owned by James H. Holden, 622 East 10th. A stereo tape was stolen from the car.

Accident Damages Five Automobiles

No one was injured but five cars were damaged in a freak accident at 16th and Missouri at 2:56 p.m. Monday.

The accident apparently occurred as David Lynn Conley, 19, Broadway Arms Apartments, was driving his 1962 Oldsmobile east on 16th when it collided with a 1965 Chevrolet driven north on Missouri by Steven K. Nierman, 18, Warrensburg.

Following the initial collision, the Conley vehicle was pushed into a 1965 Pontiac driven west on 16th by James Douglas Wagner, 28, 1606 West Seventh. After this impact, Conley's car veered into a parked 1963 Chrysler, owned by Betty Lucille Smith, 42, Route 1; and a 1967 Chevrolet pickup truck, owned by Helen Mae Shull, 51, Route 4. Both were parked on 16th.

The right front and right rear of the Conley car, the right headlight of the Nierman car and the rear of the Wagner and Shull vehicles were damaged.

Court Judgment Awards Damages

Christopher Paul Stretz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stretz, 1207 South Barrett, was awarded $6,750 in personal damages in Pettis County Circuit Monday as the result of a two-count, $10,250 damage suit against Mary L. Byler, 2911 East 12th.

In his damage petition, Stretz said that he was injured as a result of an accident Sept. 4 involving his Suzuki motorcycle and Miss Byler's 1965 Corvair sedan. The accident occurred near the northern city limits of Sedalia.

In the first count, Stretz demanded $6,750 in personal damages, which the court awarded.

The court dismissed the second-count of the petition, in which his parents demanded $3,500.

Wants Suez Question Before U.N.

CAIRO (AP) — The editor of Cairo's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said today it was time to "break the United States' monopoly of a Middle East settlement" by taking the issue back to the U.N. Security Council and the other big powers.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal claimed the United States was "retracting her own formulas for an interim Suez Canal settlement and now tries to pressure Egypt, instead of Israel, into concessions."

He commented that the Middle East appeared to have fallen into the background of U.S. foreign policy, adding, "Unless President Nixon feels he is under violent stress dictated by extreme danger in the area, he would rather mark time and wait."

Al Ahram also said the chairman of the Organization of African Unity's peace mission to the Middle East, President Leopold Senghor of Senegal, told it his group may have achieved a basis for the revival of U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring's mission.

Senghor, who left Cairo Monday with his group, feels revival of Jarring's mission is the only way of averting more fighting between the Arabs and Israelis, according to Al Ahram.

Israel's state radio reported that Foreign Minister Abba Eban told members of Parliament from his Labor party that the Israeli government is still waiting for Washington's clarifications on its proposals for an interim agreement to reopen the Suez Canal.

Eban said any such settlement would be a unilateral concession by Israel, but Israel is prepared to concede the material advantages of opening the canal to Egypt in the hope that the agreement will act as an impetus for peace.

Smithton Street Commissioner Is Given Approval

SMITHTON — The City Council here Monday night authorized the employment of Terry L. Mallory, Cole Camp, as the city's new street commissioner.

The action was made possible through funds received from the Missouri Division of Employment Security, which provides all but 10 per cent of Mallory's $520 monthly salary through the recently-approved emergency employment act. The remainder of his salary will be paid by the city.

Mallory's primary duties will be to supervise and direct repair and maintenance of all streets here.

The council also passed an ordinance establishing fees for use of the city's new sewer system. It was reported that any household hooked to the system would be assessed 67 per cent of its net water bill for sewer services.

The rest of the meeting was devoted to routine business.

Car Strikes Boy, Then Leaves Scene

Greg Wear, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wear, 2430 West First, was struck by a hit-and-run driver as he crossed Broadway at Massachusetts Monday afternoon.

According to police officer Plankenhorn, Wear was crossing Broadway on his way back to Smith-Cotton High School from a nearby eating place at 1:20 p.m. when the light changed while he was on the median walkway. He reportedly allowed one car to go through but failed to see the second.

According to witnesses, the car, described only as a light blue or turquoise Pontiac, paused momentarily and then proceeded on after colliding with Wear.

Wear was taken to a doctor where he was treated for a laceration to his chin.

Police report they are continuing the investigation.

Correct Name Given

It was incorrectly reported in the Friday Democrat and the Saturday Capital that Charles D. Smith, Route 3, had been charged in police court with careless and imprudent driving.

Police officials said Tuesday that the man charged last Friday was erroneously identified and the correct name and address are Charles E. Smith, Route 4.

Sea and Air Catastrophes In Headlines

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Disaster struck at sea and in the air over Italy today.

A British air force plane carrying 46 Italian paratroopers and 6 British crewmen plunged into the sea off Italy. To the northwest, a French freighter apparently broke up and sank in the Atlantic.

And off the coast of South Africa a British tanker caught fire. Her crew was forced to abandon ship, but the captain telephoned his headquarters in London later that all were picked up safely by rescue vessels.

The British plane crashed into the Ligurian Sea. There were no reports of survivors and officials called the crash Italy's worst peacetime military air disaster.

Wreckage from the four-engine C130 Hercules transport was spotted by searching helicopters and ships off Meloria, an island a few miles from the port city of Leghorn.

The RAF craft was participating in joint British-Italian military exercises.

The French freighter in the Atlantic, the Maori, had 39 crewmen aboard. Search planes reported sighting some of the sailors battling to stay alive and French air force rescue teams dropped an emergency raft.

Officials said the 9,400-ton Madri carrying nickel from New Caledonia to France, sent out a distress call from about 580 miles west of La Rochelle. At least four ships steamed toward the scene to aid in rescue efforts.

The British tanker Heythrop, a 43,330-ton craft built four years ago in Japan, was about 100 miles southeast of Durban when she messaged that fire had broken out in one of her tanks. Capt. Alec Matthews calling from the rescue ship Showa Ventura, told his superiors at P. and O. Steam Navigation Co. that all aboard—56 crewmen and 5 wives—had been rescued after quitting the burning ship.

Bothwell Lodge, north of Sedalia. He pointed out that after his subcommittee studied the pros and cons of the Boonville school system, he was convinced that a place like Bothwell Lodge would be ideal for a boys' or girls' rehabilitation center. Board members of the Boonville school are scheduled to inspect the Bothwell estate Wednesday, he said.

"There's no hope for these kids in the Boonville center in a warehouse complex like that. In a rehabilitation center, based on the group-house concept, the kids will receive more attention," he said.

He explained that the group-house principle is implemented effectively at Reality House in Columbia, which is sponsored by the State Law Enforcement Council and local citizens.

Red Room Refurbished

First Lady Pat Nixon unveiled the newly decorated Red Room in the White House Monday. The room, redone in a brilliant red, was closed to the public for a month while the refurbishing project was underway. The bust of President Martin Van Buren by Hiram Powers (on wall at left) and the rare mahogany secretary-bookcase below it are among the new items placed in the room.

Decorating the One Room Home

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you live in one room you may be bound by its four walls, but you needn't be bound by any decorating rules, insists Ann Pardue Sonet, who with Ellen Peterson Morris has written "The Seventeen Guide to Decorating for One-Room Living."

Careful planning, double-duty furnishings and an imaginative approach will turn the space into an environment that suits both your activities and your personality, says Mrs. Sonet, who is home furnishings editor of Seventeen Magazine.

"Whether it's a bedroom, dorm room, apartment shared with a roommate or first home as a newlywed, the secret is to put a tremendous amount of thought into what you want the room to do for you," she explains. "If you're sharing a room in the family home with a sister your needs will be different than in a studio apartment, where you will be eating, as well as sleeping, entertaining, pursuing hobbies and perhaps studying."

"Use your space—go up, out and under," she advises. "Up with shelving that goes all the way to the ceiling. You don't need a dresser six feet wide. Get several that are tall and skinny. Put brightly painted pegboard on the walls and hang everything, including chairs, on it with hooks. If you've got a bed don't waste the space under it. There are all kinds of storage boxes that fit beneath it."

But she doesn't think you must necessarily have a bed as such. She suggests other sleeping arrangements that range from sofas to a bed made from a flush door that hangs on chains from the ceiling. Or consider placing a mattress and box springs right in the middle of the floor and for daytime cover it with shag or fake fur rugs.

"Chairs can be anything. If you dig sitting on the floor all you need is just big cushions. Maybe furniture isn't for you," she adds. "Maybe you would like to put your money and effort in another direction and build a sleeping pit by raising the level of the floor around the outside with wood platforms and carpeting the entire area."

Versatility is the name of the game when it comes to utilizing space, Mrs. Sonet notes. Trunks store all kinds of things and make bedside tables or coffee tables as well.

Shelving Design

Ordinary ladders, painted in bright colors, make an unusual storage arrangement, as shown in this sketch from a new book, "The Seventeen Guide to Decorating for One-Room Living." The ladders are placed along the wall, going from floor to ceiling. When they are secure, boards are slipped in to rest on the rungs of the ladders. (AP)

Polly's Pointers

Old Books Still Have Many Uses

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I want to remind Catherine that there are many organizations that can use old books. She might call the public library, Good Will or Salvation Army in her city. Your trash may be just what someone else wants. — CAROLINE

DEAR POLLY and Catherine — There are many people looking for old, outdated books. Please do not ruin them for reading purposes until sure no one wants them. Some book shops buy old books. Many are on the lookout for first editions, so be sure to check yours before doing away with them. It is a shame people throw books away or pack them away when there are people who would like to have them. — JANET

DEAR POLLY — Like Catherine, I, too, had a lot of old books and put mine to use by putting Polly's Pointers in them with double-stick tape. Tear a few sheets out as you go along so the thickness stays the same. Write the table of contents on tape and stick over the book title. One of mine has kitchen hints, another housecleaning hints, and so on. — MRS. L. R. J.

DEAR POLLY — Catherine can use some of her old, outdated books (but not valuable ones) to make attractive boxes. Cut the center portion out of each page, leaving a margin on all four sides, and then glue the pages together, margin to margin, leaving the front cover for the box top and gluing the back cover to the glued-together pages for the bottom part of the box. Such a box looks like a book until opened. It could be used on a table or as a desk accessory to hold staples, paper clips, etc. If the book's cover is not attractive, fabric could be glued to the outside cover. — FLORENCE

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I have several lovely Mexican pottery casseroles but hesitate to cook anything in them since reading the warnings about not using pottery with an iron glaze, and Mexican pottery in particular. How does one know whether or not there is an iron glaze on pottery? Is there some test? I will not use mine until I am sure there is no danger of food contamination. — MARY

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve concerns home hair-coloring sets that one buys in drug or grocery stores. Why are they so large that those of us with short hair have so much left over and the package says not to re-use it? I do wish they would sell smaller jars for those of us with short hair. — JUDY

DEAR POLLY — By keeping some upholstery cleaner in the applicator, handy in the cleaning closet, I can clean spots from furniture or carpet the minute they appear and fresh spots are much easier to remove than old ones. Now we are more "spot-free." — MRS. W.B.

Insight From Rehnquist's Speeches, Writings

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — Nine of the last 12 nominees to the U.S. Supreme Court were sitting judges when their names went to the Senate. It was not much of a problem to read their reported opinions and to get a line on their cast of judicial thought.

Kilpatrick
A more difficult task is presented in getting a line on Lewis F. Powell, Jr., and William H. Rehnquist, the President's nominees for the vacant Black and Harlan seats. They are active lawyers, one in private practice, the other as government counsel; they think, speak and act as advocates, not as judges. Their high calling has made them players, not umpires, and this role needs to be kept in mind.

It needs especially to be kept in mind in the matter of Mr. Rehnquist. He is coming under heavy fire just now from a number of civil libertarians who are offended by things he has done or said as assistant attorney general. He has, for example, been "tough on demonstrators." He has "supported preventive detention." He has "defended a President's unrestrained power to eavesdrop on private citizens." The impression is being cultivated that Rehnquist is somewhat to the right of Torquemada and just to the left of Genghis Khan.

A very different impression may be formed from a careful reading of Rehnquist's speeches and prepared statements over the past three years. These make a stack of papers four inches high. To study them is to gain a picture of advocacy at its best — of argument compelling in its force, but founded in reason. One also sees Rehnquist as the quintessential lawyer, living by the commandment of Canon 6 that his obligation is to represent one's clients "with undivided fidelity." His clients, of course, have been the attorney general and the President.

Yes, he is tough. He speaks to the Newark Kiwanis Club on Law Day of "the new barbarians" and he is cool to cold: "I do offer the suggestion in the area of public law that disobedience cannot be tolerated, whether it be violent or nonviolent disobedience. I offer the further suggestion that if force or the threat of force is required in order to enforce the law, we must not shrink from its employment."

He is wholly a man of the law: "The minority, no matter how disaffected or disenchanted, owes an unqualified obligation to obey a duly enacted law. Government as we know it could not survive for a day if it permitted any group to choose the laws which it would obey, and those which it would not obey."

In another Law Day address, this one in Houston, he defends the government's position in the matter of violent demonstrators. He has no apologies for sweeping them up: "I suggest to you that, quite contrary to the views expressed by the defenders of the radicals, these actions of state and federal governments are only the most minimal sort of responses to very intense and serious provocation, and that these actions on the part of the government are not only thoroughly defensible but absolutely necessary. They are absolutely necessary not only for the preservation of order, but for the preservation of liberty itself. . . . We must not equate dissent with disloyalty. . . . But I would like to pose the corollary that neither should we equate destruction with dissent."

Time after time, one finds Rehnquist defending "the balancing approach," and "the reasonable approach." In a speech at Tempe, Ariz., in December of 1970, he provided a superb defense — agree or disagree — of the case for "preventive detention." He is constantly remarking that "all or nothing" solutions cannot be accepted. He is contemptuous of the excesses in federal surveillance activities. These at one point "rather clearly got out of hand."

Rehnquist is not the most felicitous writer one might encounter. He splits infinitives. He mangles verbs. He falls into the "may or may not" constructions that smack of redundancy. He has not mastered the distinction between "less than" and "fewer than." The syntax is not so important. Rehnquist, on his advocate's record, offers a brilliant intellect and a scholar's patience. On the court, he may disappoint Nixon and he will disappoint me, but he promises to make a tremendous judge.

Billion Barrier Broken

WASHINGTON — It had to come sooner or later. The unthinkable has become thinkable. The U.S. Navy is asking for ONE BILLION DOLLARS to build ONE aircraft carrier.

No one thought it would happen for five years, but when the word got out there was jubilation in all the military services at the Pentagon.

An Army general said, "I never thought the Navy would have the guts to ask for it, but now that they've broken the sound barrier, we're all free to ask for a billion dollars for our favorite weapon."

"Then you're not mad at the Navy for asking for that kind of money for an aircraft carrier?" I asked.

"Why should we be mad?" the general answered. "We've been piddling around with $100 million here, $100 million there on a new piece of hardware, when everyone knows you really can't get a bang for a buck less than a billion."

"But we didn't know how Congress would react until the Navy asked for the billion for a carrier. It didn't faze them in the least, so now if the Navy can get a billion for an aircraft carrier, we can get a billion for something we've wanted to build for some time."

"What is that?"

"It's a giant tank," he said, "and it takes up eight football fields. It's the greatest advance in military hardware since the invention of the Gatling gun."

"A billion dollars for one tank?"

"It's not just a tank, you fool," the general said. "Look at this model. The top of the tank is flat so bombers can take off and land on it. On the sides you have missiles and in the front and rear you have four 16-inch guns."

"But even with all those things it doesn't seem as if it would cost a billion dollars."

"Aha, that's the surprise," he chuckled. "You see this here on the bottom?"

"It looks like a keel."

"Exactly. This is a floating nuclear airborne tank, something the U.S. Army cannot do without."

"But it looks just like an aircraft carrier," I said.

The general took the model away angrily. "How can it look like an aircraft carrier?" he said. "It's painted brown!"

The Air Force was also celebrating the Navy's billion-dollar breakthrough. An Air Force colonel in research and development showed me the latest plane the Air Force wants to build.

"This is the greatest bomber ever designed by man," he said. "It flies at 60,000 feet, floats on water and can cut its way through a jungle so silently that not even birds can hear it."

"But it looks like a tank," I said.

"How can it be a tank?" he grumbled. "It says 'U.S. Air Force' on the side."

Although there was excitement in the Army and Air Force wings of the Pentagon, it was nothing comparable to what was going on over at the Navy Department.

Officers were handing out cigars and you could feel the excitement in the air.

While I was talking to one admiral, another admiral came down the hall and my admiral rushed up to him saying, "Zeke, for gosh sakes, I haven't seen you in four years. You look like a billion dollars."

The other admiral laughed. "You look like a billion dollars yourself."

Occupation Survey Data Is Valuable

Despite increased job availability in Pettis County, there is still room for improvement.

This is one of the conclusions to be drawn from the recently completed occupational survey of the county. The Missouri Division of Employment Security and the Sedalia office of industrial development cooperated in the survey.

Although only 44 per cent of those who received the questionnaire bothered to return it, virtually a third of this number indicated they would be available for full-time employment in new or expanding industries.

Translated into numbers, this means 2,214 potential breadwinners. This is a significant labor pool from which the county could draw, and will be an important consideration in dealing with industrial prospects.

By far the largest group of respondents, 2,327, hold high school diplomas. Beyond that, 1,403 have additional education. While not all of these are looking for work, it would indicate that the educational level is adequate to meet the needs of many industries.

As for age grouping, it is interesting to note that the largest single group of responses to the occupational survey questionnaire came from persons between 15 and 19 years of age. The second largest group were those over 65 years of age.

This would seem to imply there is a significant number of Pettis Countians in these two age bracket extremes who are available for some sort of work. It is also these people who are the most easily overlooked, or ignored, when it comes to employment.

The results of the Pettis County occupational survey should prove of great value in seeking improved employment opportunities for many county residents, and is money well spent.

Low-Pollution Car Shakes Up Detroit

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The Army has touched off a round of teeth-grashing in the boardrooms of the Big Four automakers by producing a virtually pollution-free automobile.

The motor is almost certain to meet the tough federal standards for low-emission cars by 1976 even though the Big Four automakers have whined that such a motor cannot be mass-produced by the deadline.

The radical, four-cylinder, 72-horsepower Army engine shows every sign of bearing up through the 50,000 miles of tests required by the federal standards.

It has already breezed through 7,000 miles of tests, emitting only harmless exhaust.

The Army Tank Automotive Command near Detroit is moving ahead with plans to put the engine in Jeeps and some other military vehicles by the 1976 cut-off.

Ironically, the clean engine was developed by one of motordom's Big Four, Ford, under Army supervision. The enthusiastic Ford scientists, who swear by the engine, have been dismayed by the Ford high command, which has dismissed the engine as merely "experimental."

One reason the auto executives are cold on the hot engine is that they are still trying to make their current engines pollution-free with Rube Goldberg "add-on" contraptions. One Detroit gimmick melts the asphalt beneath the motor and sets the grass afire. Another requires costly asbestos sheathing. But the economic advantages of such makeshift devices to the automakers far outweigh melted asphalt.

For one thing, the "add-ons" will cost car owners $100 to $300 annually after the first year in adjustments and in new parts. The new parts mean higher profits for the automakers who will have a monopoly on parts manufacture.

For another, the "add-ons" can be gimcracked onto current engines without the full-scale retooling necessary to produce the Army engine. By clinging to the same old basic engine, Detroit can avoid taking the chance of making mistakes and losing money.

In Europe, meanwhile, several car manufacturers have already said they can meet the U.S. exhaust standards by 1976.

Footnote: Even before the 7,000 mile tests were completed, President Nixon had hinted to top auto executives that he felt the Army engine might be a pollution solution. Now, a Texaco research team is on the verge of producing a similar motor for the Army. Although it is about a month behind schedule, delivery is expected by early January.

McGovern Blackout — Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., has discovered that the wages of truth are TV blackouts. McGovern was negotiating with TV chatman Dick Cavett to appear on his popular show just like other presidential hopefuls, including Sen. Ed Muskie, D-Me., and New York Mayor John Lindsay. But after several weeks, Cavett's producer, John Gilroy, informed McGovern aide Frank Mankiewicz that McGovern would not be welcome on the show. The problem is that McGovern has honestly declared he's a candidate, while Muskie and Lindsay are still playing coy.

Puerto Rico Reception — Two of America's most treasured assets, a moon rock and Pirates baseball star Roberto Clemente, arrived in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on the same day last month. The top billing went to the Pirates' slugger. Clemente's triumphal return to his native Puerto Rico occurred on the same day as Kennedy Space Center's Mike Ross took off for Puerto Rico with a moon rock. When Ross arrived with his wife, crew and space display, he was gratified by the excitement of the airport personnel. But it turned out that it was for the conquering baseball hero. Commonwealth officials spent a busy day shuttling between ceremonies for the bearer of the moon rock and the World Series' most renowned slugger.

Too Liberal — Two liberal candidates for the presidency have been, it seems, a bit too liberal with the congressional franking privileges. We wrote recently how Rep. Paul "Pete" McCloskey, R-Calif., has sent out campaign mail at the taxpayers' expense. Now, a reader has mailed us a franked envelope chock full of campaign literature from Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okl. Harris' embarrassed staff explained that an inexperienced clerk had put the material in a franked envelope instead of sending it by regular mail.

Congressional Ire — Big-city congressmen are irked over the Transportation Department's failure to meet an Oct. 15 deadline. Congress set that date for a report on whether operating costs of mass transportation systems should be subsidized, but Secretary John Volpe extended the deadline for industry to file its comments. Rep. William Ryan, D-

N.Y., whose New York City district is particularly in need of subway assistance, told Volpe in a private letter that "I am greatly dismayed by the fact . . . that you have failed to comply" with the Oct. 15 deadline. Actually, it's not all Volpe's fault. The White House budget boys have been shuffling Volpe's report around for weeks. Bell-McClure Syndicate Overtricks mean little in rubber bridge. Twenty or 30 points don't amount to much compared to the value of game or slam.

In duplicate an overtrick may be just as valuable as the contract trick and is always worth a match-point or two.

In today's hand South found himself in a comfortable three no-trump contract. East played his queen of spades at trick one and South was in with the king. He could cash out seven clubs and two hearts for one overtrick if he so desired. Everyone was not going to arrive at three no-trump and the score for making four no-trump would surely be above average. South wasn't interested. He wanted a top and decided to lead the jack of spades right back.

He did just that. West took his ace and South had some anxious moments while West huddled over his next play. Finally, West led a third spade. This gave South an extra trick in spades and he promptly ran off his seven clubs and dummy's two hearts for his top score.

Was it well deserved? No, but who are we to quarrel with success. West might have plunked down his king of diamonds because when both sides play the same suit one is wrong.

Sacred Heart, Stover, Northwest Win Easily

LINCOLN — Northwest of Hughesville, Sacred Heart and Stover posted easy first-round victories in the opening night of action in the annual Kaysinger Conference, Monday night, here.

Northwest, the eighth-seeded team in the tourney, turned back Green Ridge, 78-53; Sacred Heart showed that their fifth seeding meant nothing as they stopped fourth-seeded LaMonte, 79-52, and second-seeded Stover allowed host Lincoln only five field goals in the opening half as the Bulldogs coasted to a 72-41 win.

Bill Freund, who did not start for Sacred Heart in their game with the Vikings, came off the bench to pour in 21 points, 17 of which came in the second half, and paced the high-scoring Gremlins.

Freund, suffering from a sprained ankle, was joined in double figures by Bill Straka with 18, guard Chuck Mergen with 15 and center Jeff Karigan with 11.

Sacred Heart put their press to work in the opening period of the game and came up with four steals in the first quarter. However, they could not convert on any of them and led only by five, 18-13, at the close of that first period.

Still suffering from poor shooting inside in the second stanza, Sacred Heart held only a 35-28 lead at the intermission.

But the second half was all Sacred Heart with Freund leading the way.

At one point late in the fourth period, the Grems held a 31-point lead.

Sophomore standout Glyndon Bennett from LaMonte was held to only six points in the first half by the Gremlins' double-teaming defense out front.

For the game, Bennett had one of his poorer performances as a varsity player with only 13.

Darrell Oswald was the leading scorer for the Vikings with 18; Ben Walden joined Oswald and Bennett in the double-figure circuit with 10.

Sacred Heart will meet the winner of the Warsaw-Northwest contest Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the upper bracket semifinal game.

Stover placed four of their starting five players in double figures and breezed past host Lincoln in the night's final game, 72-51.

Phillip Marriott and Dwight Palmer, the Bulldogs' inside strength, combined for 30 points, while guards Paul Marriott and Noel Heppard led the backcourt corps with ten each.

Phillip Marriott was the leading scorer with 16; Palmer added 14.

Steve Fischer, a 6'3" junior forward, was the only starter for the Bulldogs that did not reach double figures; he had nine.

Stover mounted a 39-15 lead by the half and was never threatened after the opening minutes of play.

Junior Ed Pickens was the leading scorer for Lincoln and the game with 17; however, 13 of those points came in the second half, with eight in the final period.

Roger Hunt also hit in double figures for the Cardinals with 10.

Northwest Coach Donald Mosbaugh saw three of his players foul out in the second half against Green Ridge, but it made little difference as the Mustangs advanced into the upper bracket with their 78-53 win.

Northwest built up a 59-34 lead with 1:09 left in the third period, but the Tigers roared back to within 11, 61-52 with 3:17 remaining in the game.

However, the scrappy Mustangs quickly rebuilt their advantage and won going away.

Northwest will now meet first-seeded Warsaw tonight at 8:30 p.m.

Green Ridge will play Lincoln Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Tim Kessler, the Mustangs' pivot man, and guard Mark Edwards shared the scoring honors for Northwest with 14 points each. Don Mackestly also reached double figures with 13.

John Miller of the losing Tigers was the leading scorer in the game with 17. Steve Aker checked in with 12.

The schedule tonight finds two first-round games on tap.

At 7 p.m., third-seeded Cole Camp tangles with sixth-seeded Smithton; the 8:30 p.m. contest features top-seeded Warsaw meeting Northwest of Hughesville.

Sacred Heart (79) — Freund 21, Straka 18, Mergen 15, J. Karigan 11, S. Karigan 5, Dunham 4, Borchers 3, McMullin 2.

Injured Curtis Gives Colts Break for Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Curtis will have two metal pins removed from a mending broken thumb today, and he hopes the operation will give him more football mobility.

But the bulky cast worn by Baltimore's middle linebacker may have restricted his play just enough Monday night to produce a 24-17 victory for the Colts over the Los Angeles

Rams.

With his right thumb in a rigid position and unable to grasp properly, Curtis used his arm as sort of a club to jar the ball loose from Larry Smith of the Rams in the fourth quarter.

Fellow linebacker Ted Hendricks snared the ball in full stride and romped 31 yards into the end zone for a touchdown which snapped a 10-10 tie with 9:03 to play.

Scores by Baltimore's Tom Matte and Matt Maslowski of the Rams were added in the closing two minutes, but it was the fumble popped free by Curtis which turned the tide in the nationally televised game.

possession of the ball. Tom Nowatzke (34) of the Colts watches the play. Baltimore held off the Rams for a 24-17 victory before a national television audience. (UPI)

Visits Ohio Inmates

Frazier Wants Boxing Program in Ohio Pen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Joe Frazier, self made with his explosive fists, wants to help convicts set up a boxing program in Ohio Penitentiary.

The popular heavyweight champion chatted with more than 200 inmates Monday on a talk program, Avco Broadcasting Corp.'s Phil Donahue Show, live from the prison's Catholic chapel.

"That would be a good idea," Frazier responded to a convict's suggestion he help establish boxing in the 134-year-old maximum security prison.

"I'd like to come back, get up a little boxing team and work out with you guys if I can," the champion said.

Another convict wanted Muhammad Ali along. Ali lost a 15-round decision to Frazier March 9 in New York and the two are scheduled for a rematch.

"Fine, I'd like to have Ali with me. I'd be glad if he comes, too. Right on, men," said the champion, raising a clenched fist in the air.

Frazier related very well with the convicts in the opening show on a five-part series being telecast live by Avco this week into 44 cities.

His background, of course, probably helped the 28-year-old champion, who has scored 23 knockouts in 27 fights as an unbeaten professional.

"These guys asked a little different questions than you newspaper fellas. But I could handle them all," said Frazier, a dropout in the ninth grade who has worked in cotton fields in the South, a New York auto repair shop and a Philadelphia slaughterhouse.

From those varied jobs, Frazier has climbed into the big money of heavyweight boxing. His last fight with Ali grossed him $2.5 million, for example.

Frazier, who hasn't fought since the Ali match, said he would like to meet his prime challenger next year. But he doesn't expect the rematch until 1973 or 1974 because of legal and contract problems.

The champ predicted another victory. "No matter when it is, it'll be an instant replay," he said.

Frazier bristled at one convict's suggestion he was the Great White Hope.

"Clay's the original Uncle Tom. I don't feel like I'm the Great White Hope. The white people never had a champ as good as the blacks," he answered.

Frazier also says he has a reason for calling Ali by his former name, Cassius Clay.

"I'm just a little more clever than him. I call him Clay to make him mad. He says he's gonna whup you when you call him that," said Frazier.

"When he sees the tube and hears this, he'll get angry," the champion predicted.

"He'll call me tomorrow and say, 'Joe Frazier, I'm gonna get you.'"

The champ said he was up to 225 pounds. "I should be about 215. I've put on weight traveling with my musical group (The Knockouts). There's not enough gyms to work out."

Frazier, a native of Beaufort, S.C., now living in Philadelphia, said he had no immediate plans other than appearing with The Knockouts and "doing a little farming down on my new plantation."

He recently brought a plantation in South Carolina for his mother and will next appear with his musical group Wednesday at U.S. Marine Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Hendricks first saw the ball about seven feet in the air, and grabbed it about a foot off the ground. He wasn't sure whether it hit the turf or not.

"It was a freak thing, and I just happened to be there," Hendricks said. "My only thought was to make sure I recovered the ball and didn't fumble."

Just 82 seconds before Hendricks' score, a 32-yard field goal by Baltimore's Jim O'Brien had tied it 10-10, overcoming a Los Angeles lead that had existed since just before halftime.

Matte, Baltimore's 32-year-old workhorse who gained 97 yards, had given the Colts a 7-3 lead with the first of his two touchdowns with 5:26 to go in the second quarter.

But the Rams, who opened the scoring with David Ray's 20-yard field goal, struck back quickly. They drove 60 yards in seven plays to go in front 10-7 on a 12-yard TD pass from Roman Gabriel to Les Josephson.

Jurgensen In Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen is back on the job with the Washington Redskins, but his job is on the bench as back-up signal-caller to Billy Kilmer.

"Sonny will be brought along slowly," Redskins Coach George Allen said Monday, squashing all speculation that Jurgensen will regain his starting job with the National Football League club.

"He is not ready to play football yet," Allen said. "I'm not going to let anybody dictate to me what we're going to do about our quarterback," the coach said. "Both quarterbacks want to win, and we're a team."

"We have never had a quarterback problem. In Los Angeles when I took over as coach I said, 'Roman Gabriel is the quarterback.' Some people said, 'but Bill Munson has been our No. 1 quarterback.'"

"I said, 'well, now he is our back-up quarterback.' Munson became unhappy in that role and eventually we had to trade him."

"Kilmer's our quarterback," Allen said. "He's brought us to where we are now. He's done a great job."

NU, OU Remain On Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks would rather worry about winning than piling up points.

"I don't want us to get to the point where we're dissatisfied with not winning by a big enough score," said Fairbanks, whose second-ranked Sooners lost ground to top-rated Nebraska in this week's Associated Press college football poll announced Monday.

Oklahoma, hard-pressed last Saturday in beating Missouri 20-3, wound up with six first-place votes and 968 points Monday, compared to 17 and 1,010 the week before.

Nebraska, which led by a mere 24 points last week boosted its lead with 41 first-place votes and a total of 1,060 points after smashing Iowa State 37-0.

The victory over Missouri, in which Oklahoma was held to its lowest point production of the season, prompted this remark from Fairbanks:

"I'm not at all disappointed with our team's play. We could have won it 1-0 and that would have been good enough for me. I don't want to apologize for the score."

NHL Expansion May Be Close

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League was prepared today to accept at least two new members after spending most of Monday evening listening to a report on expansion, prepared by a Board of Governors study committee.

Before the board were applications from several cities with the most likely to be approved coming from Atlanta and Long Island. But expansion to those two areas is not a simple matter, and it was the complex side issues that occupied the governors Monday.

First, there is the matter of just how many votes it would take to approve immediate expansion. Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL and chairman of the expansion study committee, had indicated last week that any expansion before 1974 would require a unanimous vote by the 14-man Board of Governors.

But there were reports Monday that the board had agreed a 12-vote majority would now be enough for approval. "That is a matter of debate," said Campbell.

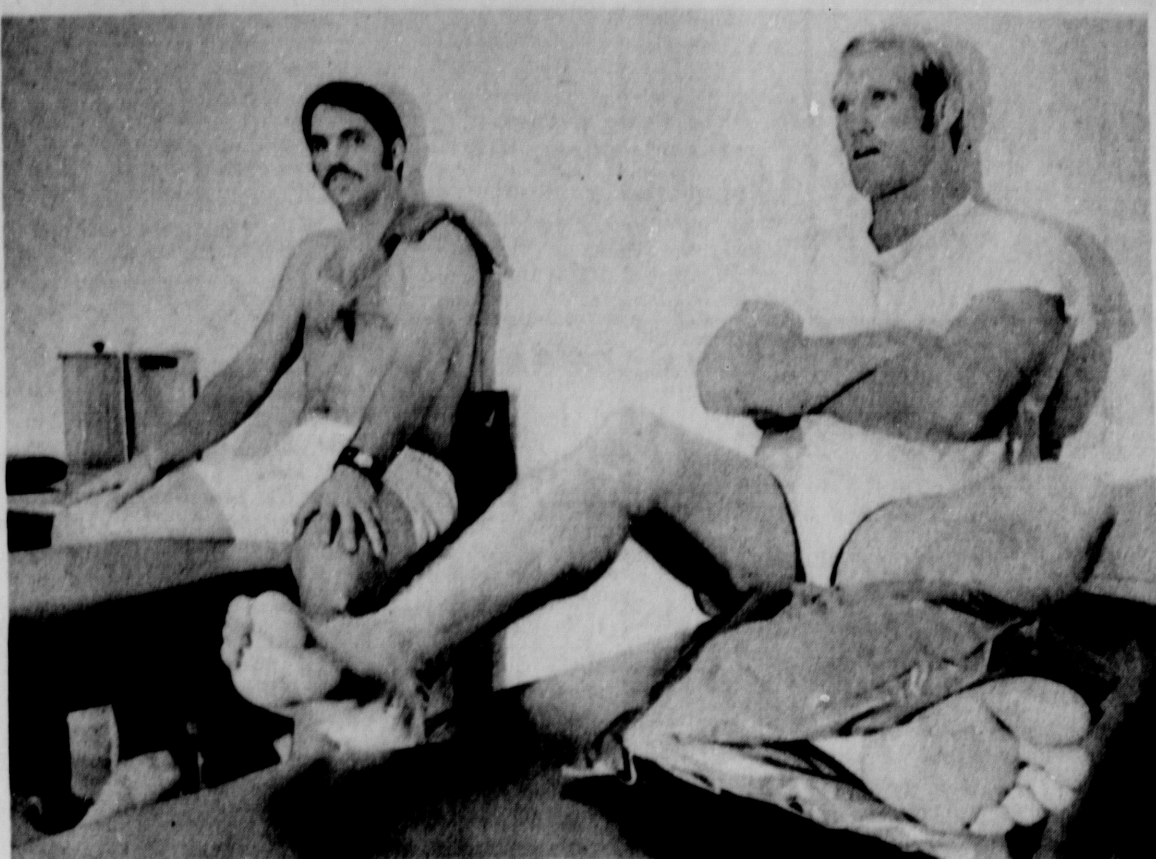

Eliminating the need for a unanimous vote would sidestep objections to immediate expansion by one or two dissenting governors such as Oakland's Charles O. Finley, who indicated he would be unhappy with having his club surrender any players to stock new teams now.

Then there is the matter of how to handle a 16-team league. Some sentiment exists for splitting the teams into four divisions composed of four teams each. Naturally, the makeup of those divisions was not a simple issue to resolve.

One solution offered was dividing up the NHL's four most powerful teams, Montreal, Chicago, New York and Boston, and putting one in each of the proposed four divisions.

Another problem for the NHL governors to consider was the new World Hockey Association, which has announced plans to play in 10 cities next season. One of the WHA franchise holders, Neal Shayne of Woodmere, N.Y., has threatened suit should the NHL expand to Long Island and place a team in the new Nassau Coliseum complex.

Expansion was the only topic on the agenda of the two-day NHL meeting. There had been a report that a possible shift of franchises might also be discussed.

KU Looks for Way To Slow Down OU

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas Coach Don Fambrough says the Jayhawks are "burning the midnight oil" trying to come up with a way to beat the second-ranked Oklahoma Sooners Saturday at Norman, Okla.

Fambrough, in discussing defense, asserted that "a team can't just junk everything and try to set up a new defense. You have to go with what you know."

"We'll make a few little adjustments. You just can't give those people too many opportunities. I've never seen a more explosive football team than Oklahoma."

"When Bud Wilkinson was at Oklahoma, you could defense the straight old option but this bunch has somebody knocking you down all of the time. And that Jack Mildren (quarterback) is fantastic."

Fambrough, talking by telephone from Lawrence, Kan., during the Big Eight Conference briefing session Monday, said that "offensively, it is harder to get ready for Oklahoma than Nebraska." Kansas lost to Nebraska 55-0.

"It takes a lot of people to stop the Oklahoma running game," Fambrough added, "and then you're concerned about the passing. They can kill you passing, too."

Coach Chuck Fairbanks said the Sooners would have to "play complete football to beat Kansas. Our over-all execution will have to be good."

"Kansas is very close to having a very good offensive team. What worries me is if they put everything together in this particular game."

Fairbanks said there was no chance the Sooners would be looking past Kansas to top-ranked Nebraska because "this game means too much to us."

Title Action Is Featured On Mat Card

Talented Terry Martin, undefeated in Midlands wrestling for almost a month, will get a crack at the world crown tonight when he challenges versatile Dory Funk Jr.

The action will top a four-match lineup at Convention Hall. Matches get under way at 8:15.

Steve Bolas will side with Rufus Jones to oppose the Japanese tandem of Chati Yokuchi and Yasu Fuji.

Omar Atlas from Tulsa, will make his bow locally tonight, facing another newcomer, Jose Rivera.

Booked for the opening class are Jones and Fuji.

Jeff Stevens Makes LSU Freshman Team

BATON ROUGE, La. — Jeff Stevens, an all-Kaysinger Conference selection last season for the Stover Bulldogs, has made the 14-man freshman basketball squad at Louisiana State University, here.

Consumer Package Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a hefty package of consumer legislation to spell out more clearly a product warranty and offer deceived customers stronger federal support.

The final vote Monday night was 76 to 2 after a series of key tests on amendments which would have stripped or watered down the sections giving new, broad powers to the Federal Trade Commission.

At one point, Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, a sponsor of the bill with Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., said tactics of the opponents verged on a filibuster.

Key sections would grant the FTC power to pass industry regulations with the force of law, subject to congressional veto; launch class-action suits to recover a deceived customer's money; seek injunctions, and intervene in local consumer disputes.

The package goes far beyond the bits-and-pieces approach of past consumer legislation and would beef up the FTC, branded as just a shade more than powerless by such critics as Ralph Nader.

Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., criticized the FTC powers as drastic and said they would create more problems than they solve. His amendment stripping all the FTC provisions was defeated 57 to 24.

The Senate defeated, 49 to 30, a bid by Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., to eliminate the class-action power. Cook called this measure "piecemeal legislation at its worst." He said the FTC would be its own judge, prosecutor and jury.

In the final vote Hruska and Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., were the only dissenters.

The warranty provisions require that if a producer chooses to guarantee his product he must spell out when and where it can be replaced or repaired. Repair time of the product exceeds the warranty for the time needed to fix it. If a customer sues and wins, the company must pay the lawyer's fee, and the customer must be told this in the warranty.

The warranty provisions would cover cars, appliances and other products costing more than $5.

Nixon Is Seeking Pollution Rewrite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is seeking extensive changes in the strong water pollution control bill approved last week, 86 to 0, by the Senate.

Environmental Protection Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus said the administration wants new hearings on the bill when it is considered by the House.

Congressional sources displayed a detailed list of proposed changes which they said the White House was circulating to congressmen and to state governments.

Ruckelshaus told newsmen he had not seen that list, but he showed them a critique which he said was prepared by the President's Council on Environmental Quality. Its discussion of the bill backed up the point-by-point alterations list attributed to the White House.

The documents indicated the administration wants to delete or reduce many key provisions of the Senate bill, including abandoning its 1985 goal of a complete ban on waste discharges into waterways.

Wants Earnings Of Officials Made Public

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — State Rep. Vic Downing, D-Bragg City, wants high state officials to tell the public how much money they made and the sources of the income.

Downing said Monday he is having a bill prepared so he can introduce it in the Missouri House of Representatives in December or January.

It would require high elective or appointive state officials to file with the Secretary of State copies of their state income tax returns along with itemized lists of income sources. Failure would mean forfeiture of office.

Downing said he thought such legislation would do more than anything else to restore the confidence of Missourians in their state government.

"I believe that most public officials are honest," he said, "and I hope they will support this income disclosure bill because it will help protect them from false rumors and baseless accusations."

Downing said a similar bill is pending before the Illinois Legislature.

Any man seeking high public office ought to be ready to "lay his cards on the table," Downing said.

Child Is Killed In K. C. Blaze

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A child is dead and her parents are in critical condition as the result of a fire at their home in Ruskin Heights on the south-eastern edge of the city.

The dead infant, 11-month-old Susan Pierce, was found in her bed.

Firemen aided her parents, Don Pierce, 26, and Carole Pierce, 23, and their two sons, David, 5, and three-week-old Don Jr., from the small frame home late Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce were reported in critical condition at Baptist Memorial Hospital. David and Don Jr. were in satisfactory condition at Mercy Hospital.

The cause of the fire, which officials said began in the living room, was not determined.

Ann Landers

Is Early Childhood Training Important?

Dear Ann Landers: I am praying that you will fix up my letter so it will be fit to print. I just don't know how to put it in better language, and there is nobody I can talk to. I am a boy 19 who is getting ready to go into the service. My problem is that I cannot urinate in a public place if there is anyone around. This might not sound serious but it is. All the way through school I managed by waiting till I was alone in the boys' room. In the Army there is no such thing as being alone.

Sometimes waiting for privacy can be uncomfortable and painful. What can I do? Is there a cure for my problem? Please help me. You are my only hope. — 19 And Holding

Dear 19: Yours is a psychological problem rooted in early childhood. Your mother probably made you feel ashamed of any activity related to the genitals and now you are tragically inhibited. When you take your physical tell the doctor about the problem. You may be ineligible. If you are inducted, see the Army psychiatrist promptly. I'm betting you will conquer the hang-up before you leave the service.

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column you printed assorted facts to imply that women are superior to men. Like most women, you present only those facts which support your position and conveniently ignore the rest.

Civil Air Patrol Exercise Expected

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Several hundred members of the Civil Air Patrol are expected to take part in a statewide exercise Saturday and Sunday.

Col. James Bash, state director of emergency services, will direct the activities from a central control station in Jefferson City.

Various units will work out of six sub-bases in Kirksville, St. Joseph, Joplin, Sedalia, Creve Coeur and Sikeston, and each sub-base will be given a different problem.

Capt. Larry Loos, information officer, said the problems will be surprises. "We expect Col. Bash to hit us with such things as a nuclear accident, or a flood or a tornado."

The exercise is held to update the state's emergency plans, Loos said.

You state that women live longer than men. True. But are you aware that the American male ranks 37th compared with the males of other nations? This would tend to suggest that there are socio-cultural factors involved in this comparison. You also state that more men die from heart disease than women. True. But more women die from cerebral strokes. And we know that even though more men die from lung cancer, this disease has increased among women nearly 50 per cent in the last 20 years.

Dr. Estelle Ramey states that more men commit suicide than women. True. But she neglects to mention that more women ATTEMPT suicide. And according to the present National Health Survey's report, "Selected Symptoms of Psychological Distress," women had significantly higher rates than men for every symptom. The symptoms investigated were insomnia, nightmares, perspiring hands, headaches, dizziness, heart palpitations, and feelings of impending nervous breakdown. I am sure you won't print this letter but I feel better for having written it. — Monroe, La.

Dear Monroe: Thanks for the facts. And now may I suggest the reason so many women suffer from insomnia, nightmares, perspiring hands, headaches, dizziness, heart palpitations, and feelings of impending nervous breakdown is MEN. And I'm not kidding.

Dear Ann Landers: I want to congratulate the person who left that "drop dead" note under the windshield wiper of the woman who did a lousy job of parking and spoiled it for two other drivers. I've been tempted to write such a note myself.

I drive a small car and can get into almost any space, if the people who park ahead and behind are not slobbers. Sometimes I get pinned in by rotten drivers, and this makes me furious. It not only happens on the street but in parking lots. More than once I've had to climb through the sun roof because the hog next to me didn't leave enough space to open the door. How come you didn't side with the note writer instead of taking a safe, non-committal position? No guts? — California Driver

Dear C.D.: Me...no guts? You must be a new reader. Welcome aboard.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35c in coin with your request.

Holdup Suspect Shot By Police

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Clifford David Adams, 22, of Kansas City, was shot to death by a policeman shortly after a hold-up in mid-town Kansas City.

Police said a loaded 38 caliber revolver was found beside Adams and a bag of money taken in the holdup was nearby.

Donald Satterfield, a supervisor of McCall Service Stations, Inc., was robbed of the money bag as he started to enter the firm's headquarters building. Several company employees chased the man.

Patrolman Paul Bowman, off duty, arrived on business and was told about the robbery. He joined the chase and enlisted the aid of patrolmen Joseph Drezelhouse and James Johnson.

The officers said they saw the man hiding by some trees and he pointed a revolver at them when they called for him to surrender.

At Union Pacific the ODDS are in your FAVOR...

29,038 to 1

Over twenty nine thousand trained employees to serve each shipper. Specialists using the most modern, sophisticated equipment available—such as radar-directed classification yards, the world's largest privately owned microwave network, and direct-line car location print-outs.

Many of these twenty nine thousand Union Pacific employees you may know as friends and neighbors. They are dedicated to making their community a better place to live—and they'll work round the clock to deliver the goods for you and to you. These are good people and great railroaders. You should get to know them better. If you're a shipper, the odds are in your favor.
